ANTI-FOUR POWER PACT BRIGADE PREPARES TO INVADE WESTERN STATES

Democrats Will Put Speakers in Field Early in the Year

WOMEN CLUBS WORK

Hope to Slide in Office on Unpopular Feeling on Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Organization of a nation-wide fight against the four-power Pacific treaty is under way by both the Democratic and Republican foes of the pact.

These steps are being taken to perfect an organization even more effective than that in which practically every state lent aid to the irreconcilable senators in their battle against the Versailles pact.

1.—Anti-Japanese sentiment on the Pacific coast is being made the nucleus for anti-treaty organization there.

2.—A woman organizer has been engaged to organize women's clubs in the Middle West and Northwest against the treaty.

3.—Comprehensive plans for forming anti-treaty clubs and holding anti-treaty mass meetings are being sent everywhere where indications show anti-treaty sentiment.

4.—Democratic political units
are being urged to fight the treaty on the theory that if the Republicans could sweep the nation by 7,000,000 on an anti-league platform, the Democrats ought to be able to sweep it in the coming congressional election by opposing something they hold the country will find more obnoxious than the league.

SCHOOL PROGRAMS TODAY VARIOUS CITY POINTS

Begin Holiday Vacation
Wednesday in All City Schools

The public schools are feeling
the effect of the storm in reduced attendance. Fortunately this is the last day before the Christmas holidays. Simple Christmas programs are being given in most of the schools and at an early hour,
either before or immediately after lunch, and the children will be dismissed.

The chief feature of the brief program at Intermediate which is a little play, "The Day Before Christmas," given by about 20 pupils of B 7-1 and B 7-4, which represents Santa Claus as entering the school and taking the teacher's place, and conducting it according to his ideas. To assist him he calls upon various characters who appear as summoned—
Aurora Borealis, Jack Frost, the Goddess of Flowers, the Spirit of Christmas, Father Time, Euclid, who shows how to cut the Christmas pie, Jack of All Trades, the Lord of Misrule and others. The school orchestra will play and the boys' and girls' glee club who will sing "Silent Night" and "With Sweetest Acclaim." The program will be given immediately after lunch that it may not interfere with the matinee of the T. D. and
L. theater which is a benefit for Intermediate.

At Cerritos simple programs are being given which begin at 12:15
and end at 1:15 when the pupils will be dismissed. They will include music, recitations, compositions on Christmas, and a little Christmas play.

SIX WOMEN LOCKED UP IN PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Kan., Dec. 20.—Six more women, charged with unlawful assembly in connection with the "Amazon army" riots, were under arrest here today as state and county officials also broadened their offensive against illegal rum vendors, radicals, and other undesirables of the mine field. Five men were arrested in connection with booze raids.

DEDICATION OF CHAMBER POSTPONED

On account of the inclement weather, the chamber of commerce dedication ceremonies scheduled for tonight have been postponed. Further announcement will be made Wednesday.

STUDENT BODY IS BUSY GIVING TO NEEDY TODAY

Twenty-five Local Families Supplied by High School

Today if Santa Claus is able to work in the rain, the gifts which the boys and girls of Glendale
High student body have accumulated for the 25 families they undertook to provide with a real Christmas, will begin to go forward.

When the Glendale Press reporter visited the high school Monday, every roll room had its store. Huge boxes and baskets were piled high with daintily wrapped parcels, fastened with gay Christmas seals,
and in the few cases where the wrapping had not been completed, stockings stuffed with goodies, with dolls hanging out at the top, and gift cornucopias dangling from them were to be seen. A list had been furnished of the children in each family and their ages and toys or books had been provided for each one, besides candy, nuts and apples, and materials for a full Christmas dinner. Ten roasts had been donated to the school by Charles Ingledue of the Glendale

DIPLOMACY FIRST NAME OF MAYOR OF GLENDALE

Delicate Situation Met With Quick Solution
at Home

Mayor Robinson has a very soft heart for dogs, and they are fairly
"mushy" on him. Perhaps it is his companionable nature for all creation which made him mayor of Glendale. But when it comes to dogs, Mrs. Robinson says there are limits, and the mayor acknowledges that she is the captain of his home if not of his soul. So, when she announced that he had enough four-footed friends, he loyally yielded to her orders; but his heart yearned for an Italian greyhound. Realizing that it was out of the question for him, he presented it to his son, who is usually permitted to have what he wants, and there is peace, harmony and good feeling in the mayor's household, with everybody satisfied.

One night at a council meeting
when big things were being done and every member was absorbed in the problems before the board, Mayor Robinson asked to be excused a minute, like the room, and presently returned with a collie at his heels. "Laddie" had been left in the Robinson car, had gotten cold and lonesome, and his plaints
had reached his master, penetrating through his pre-occupation. So the session was resumed with "Laddie" stretched at the feet of the man he adored.

ANTI-ALIEN LAND LAW WAS UPHELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—The California anti-alien land law,
which forbids Japanese from owning or leasing California land, was upheld in a decision of the federal district court of appeals on record today. The decision was in the suit of W. L. Porterfield and Y.
Mizuno of Los Angeles who sought to enjoin U. S. Webb, state attorney general from enforcing the law. The court held the law constitutional and ruled Webb had the right to enforce it. The case may be carried to the United States supreme court.

BUYS LIFE CO.—
DES MOINES, Dec. 20.—The Midwest Securities corporation has purchased the Bankers' Life property for $125,000. A million-dollar apartment house is under consideration.

STUDENTS STRIKE
FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 20.—
One hundred and fifty students in the Rosen Heights public school went on a strike because the trustees had discharged a principal.
The attendance is normally 350.

BANDITS GET $8000
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 20.—Two armed bandits robbed a messenger for the Chouteau Trust company of $8180 in cash on a crowded street
and escaped in an automobile.

Logan Fee's Proper Size Is Discussed by Writer Tonight

"It is amusing to watch a contest for determination of the proper size of a legal fee," says Henry James in his comments on the news of the day on the editorial page this evening. He reaches the conclusion, after citing several cases,
that there is nothing to impair the theory that the proper fee is the biggest within reach.
James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" tonight writes of "Mamma Experience" and the use of the slipper and the promise to never do it again.

Dr. Frank Crane has a word on "The Sinks of the Nations," and the suggestion that the United States collect the money which other nations owe and use it in the rehabilitation of Europe. You may not agree with Dr. Crane. His article, however, is illuminating. He says it is not an altruistic scheme but could be classified as intelligent unselfishness.

John Pilgrim in "Watching the Parade" writes of his pet bootlegger and it is quite a human document with a lesson attached that the reader cannot fail to grasp. There are other features full of interest to be found on the editorial page. It is always worth reading and re-reading.

Local Commerce Chamber Presents A Fine Record

By JOHN H. GERRIE,
Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

The Chamber of Commerce puts on long trousers tonight. It comes of age, enters its new home, throws open the doors and exclaims to the world:

"Come on in, the water's fine!"

And when you go in and look it over you'll find,
perhaps to your surprise, that Glendale possesses a big,
lusty youth, ready to work and fight
and holler for this imperious young city of the gate. You'll find even more, for this incipient giant who has sprung up as marvelously as Glendale itself already is working and fighting and hollerin' for the metropolis of his dreams.

Perhaps you don't know, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Reader, that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has some 1100 members and is the largest organization of its kind in any city of less than 50,000 population in the United States. Perhaps you don't know that approximately 800 of this membership has been brought in within the last ten months, when the chamber really began to function for the first time.

But you OUGHT to know that you have a wonderfully strong business body, capable of accomplishing great things for Glendale and you ought to see that it DOES accomplish great things for Glendale. IT WILL if you get solidly back of it in its splendidly constructive platform of progress for this city.

The first way to get back of it is to attend its housewarming tonight and the second way is to carry to it your suggestions and recommendations for civic development. And the way to be back of it all the time is to support the chamber in its continuous efforts for betterment of all civic interests.

This Chamber of Commerce ought to be the eyes of the city, shaping its course according to its vision of the future. It ought to be the lungs of the city, taking deep breaths to maintain the energy and power of the community. It ought to be the voice of the city, lifted up for all things that help and ready with its negative for all things that hurt.

It can be and will be these and more if all Glendale will say loud enough to be heard: "We're with you, sonny, as long as you move fast, so GO TO IT!"

The time to start saying it is tonight and the time to stop saying it is when Glendale shall have got everything she wants—which is a long time away.

A city that more than doubles its population in twenty-one months is traveling so fast that mile posts
seem as near together as telephone poles and lamp posts
make a picket fence. Many things are out of proportion and many things that ought to be done are overlooked. It is peculiarly the job of the local chamber to look over the overlooked and to maintain some semblance of proportion in the interests of the community.

The chamber works systematically and quickly—perhaps too quickly for the good of its own reputation.
But its record for ten months from March 1 is one that the city may be proud of. It has stimulated civic spirit and community co-operation. It has worked for the enlargement and betterment of schools, initiating the $265,000 bond issue for public schools and getting back of the high school issue of $85,000. It has advocated an adequate sewer system and helped to put over the $100,000 bond issue that assured an ample water supply.

It has made a study of the local industrial situation and has been instrumental in recently bringing to the industrial area a window blind factory, a compressed rubber tube factory, gear ring and washing machine

FIERY SPEECH MARKS SESSION DAIL EIREANN

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—Women members of the Dail Eireann took up the Irish treaty fight in the open session today. A fiery debate between Miss Finian Lynch and Miss Albina Broderick ended when Mrs. Donald O'Callaghan, wife of the lord mayor of Limerick, leaped to her feet
and cried:

"Why was my husband murdered? Why am I a widow?
Was it to put Ireland in the British Empire?"

CHRISTMAS CHEER CALLS ARE MANY FOR GLENDALE

Various Organizations
Plan to Make Many Gifts

A variety of Christmas calls upon the public have been made in Glendale which should be kept at the top of every Christmas list.
They include:

Gifts for the disabled veterans
at Thornycroft, especially decorations for the Christmas trees which are to adorn the rooms of bed-ridden patients. Donations for the trees should be sent to Mrs. George Clayton at Orange and Harvard streets. Other presents for the boys may be sent to her or her lieutenant, Gerald Delgado.

The families on the list of the Glendale welfare bureau at the city hall, where Mrs. E. D. Yard and Mrs. L. W. Sinclair have charge, should be kept in mind and their needs ascertained from Mrs. Yard.

Mrs. H. R. Boyer of 232 North Orange street, as the representative of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, is trying to respond to the appeal from the County Farm for remembrances for the old people
there who look forward to the gifts with a pathetic eagerness that exceeds the anticipations of children. They are, in the majority of instances, in the second childhood and their numbers have so increased within the past year that the matron fears there will not be enough gifts to go around.
The club decided the practical thing would be to give money and let the hospital officials buy the gifts. The county provides a bountiful Christmas dinner and clothing, but it has no funds to supply
the cravings of hungry hearts.
Those who wish to respond should send their checks to Mrs. Boyer.
Another big call is from the Salvation Army which has a drive

KEEP DATE TO RAID CASH DRAWER IN RESTAURANT

Police Wait for Men But They Escape, One
Was Slain

STOCKTON, Dec. 20.—A determined search was being made today for the two bandits who escaped following a battle with F. M.
Wiley and four deputy sheriffs at Manteca last night. An unidentified bandit was killed and Mrs. Wiley was wounded. Receiving word that an attempt would be made to hold up Wiley's restaurant, officers were stationed about the place.

Leaving by the back door, Wiley and his wife had gone about a block when they were confronted by the bandits. Refusing to deliver the sack of money he was carrying, Wiley began shooting. His fire was returned immediately.
One of the bandits was killed and Mrs. Wiley received a deep flesh wound. The four deputies joined in the battle and pursuit of the two fleeing bandits, who finally escaped
in the darkness.

Despite the fact that he was being fired at by three men at close range, Wiley escaped without injury.

Officers are confident the bandits are the same gang that shot Night Marshal Oliver the previous night.

BUY OIL STOCK
MILWAUKEE, Dec. 20.—That disabled war veterans under treatment at Rest Haven sanatorium, Waukesha, have been sold large amounts of oil stock and that payments were deducted from their monthly compensation checks, is charged by the state commander of the American Legion.

POSTPONE TRIAL
BOSTON, Dec. 20.—The trial of Joseph C. Pelletier, district attorney, before the supreme court
on charges of misconduct in office preferred by Attorney-General Allen, was postponed today until December 27.

GLENDALE IN CENTRE OF GREAT RAIN STORM OVER ALL SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

FRANCE BACK DOWN HAS DEMAND FOR SUBSTITUTE

Premier Briand Cables Instructions Revealed to Public

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.— France's acceptance with reservations, of a ratio of 1.7 in the naval scale was announced at a meeting of the committee of 15 today by Albert Sarraut. The reservations, making this acceptance dependent upon an increased proportion of submarines and light craft for France, were offered by the French spokesman at the same time.

These are:
1.—France asks greater proportion of submarines and auxiliary craft to capital ships larger than that outlined by Secretary Hughes.
2.—She asks, too, additional submarines "for the protection of her rights and possessions in northern Africa."

British opposition as strong as that against Admiral Debon's plea for 350,000 tons of capital ships was feared.

The French in withdrawing from their original stand for a fleet outstripping Japan's made it clear that they want something else in return, namely, a more favorable auxiliary tonnage.

BURCH DEFENSE TO DISPROVE STATE STAR WITNESS

Movie Colony Is Injected Into Case Early
Today

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—The damaging testimony of Mrs. Elizabeth Besenty against Arthur C.
Burch, accused of the slaying of John Belton Kennedy, will be subjected to further attacks by defense witnesses today. A party of motion picture players will make the assault.

In a big sedan, this party drove up Beverly Glen road on the night of the murder of John Belton Kennedy. They were immediately behind the undertaker who had been called to remove the body. They will testify that no car was following the undertaker except their own.

This testimony will be designed to rock the positive assertion of Mrs. Besenty that Burch drove back into the glen behind the undertaker, paused at the scene of the tragedy and watched the removal of young Kennedy's body.
George McLeure, 17, who lives
at Coronado Beach, was also on today's witness list. He was to testify that on the night of August 5, when the Beverly Glen
"death trap" claimed its victim,
he saw two rough-looking characters in a canyon adjoining the substantial version of Madalyenne Obenchain, who was with Kennedy at the time of his death.
Madalynne said her sweetheart
was shot by "two ragged phantoms," who rose up suddenly from ambush and as suddenly disappeared after firing at Kennedy point-blank with a sawed-off shotgun.

BRITISH ASKING
PLENARY SESSION
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The British delegation has asked that a plenary session of the arms conference be held tomorrow or Thursday so Lord Lee can present
the British request for total abolition of submarines. It was said to be very unlikely that the session could be held before Thursday.

SWIMMING POOL
DETROIT, Dec. 20.—A municipal swimming pool not far from the center of the city, which will accommodate 600 persons at one time, is one of the features of a program of civic improvements planned for next year by the Lansing city council.

KILLED HUSBAND
DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 20.—Mrs.
Georgia Smith, 28 years old, who shot and killed her husband, Dr.
U. T. Smith, 48 years old, in their home here today, was released on $1000 bond pending grand jury action. Mrs. Smith fainted four times while making a statement to officers.

STREETS FLOODED

San Diego Is Visited by Electric Storm Early
Today

Los Angeles and vicinity:
Rain tonight and probably Wednesday; strong southerly wind.

The above is the promise, or threat, as you will, of the weather man for Southern California for today and tomorrow. Rain has fallen almost steadily for the past 48 hours over the entire Southland and from available reports, Glendale has had the heaviest storm of any section of Los Angeles county.

To this morning 3.18 inches of rain have fallen in Glendale during the present storm and it continues. Last night, several feet of water were racing through the Verdugo Wash. The Arroyo Seco was filled in four hours and turned from a dry wash to a raging torrent with six feet of water rushing between its banks.

BASEMENT FILLED
The recently excavated basement of the Ambrosini Hotel has about ten feet of water in it this morning and from all indications work on the hotel will be halted
for some time until the water has been drained off and the ground thoroughly dried.

BASEMENT A POOL
The basement of the new Pen-droy Dry Goods store has several feet of water in it, and this morning workmen were busy pumping water out and building a shelter
along the banks of the excavation
to prevent the earth crumbling.

STREETS FLOODED
The downtown streets of the city were raging torrents last night. The gutters were filled to overflowing and in most cases the water ran over and down the sidewalks. Several cases are reported where water flowing through the gutters met with some obstruction and overflowed the sidewalk and into the business houses. So far no actual damage has been reported as due to the rain.

STAY ALL NIGHT
It is reported that several employees of local business houses who live in Los Angeles were afraid to go to their homes last night and spent the night in Glendale. They feared that the water rushing through the Arroyo Seco between Glendale and Los Angeles would overflow and wash out the bridge, making it impossible for them to reach their places of business today. All hotels and rooms for rent in private homes were taken last night and several instances were cited where people walked the streets for several hours last night in the pouring rain, seeking even a cot to sleep on.

SNAIL'S PACE
In cases where it is absolutely necessary to operate automobiles on the streets of Glendale, they are driven at a snail's pace to prevent skidding. In several cases accidents have only been averted
by the presence of mind of the automobile drivers.

SCHOOLS SLIM
School attendance was considerably reduced today as a result of the rain. At the high school the average attendance was reduced by about 30 per cent, and at the intermediate school the attendance was reduced by about 42 per cent. At the Colorado street, or primary school, the attendance suffered the greatest reduction, being reduced 50 per cent. The attendance was reduced 40 per cent
at Cerritos school.

HAPPY THOUGHT
Yesterday afternoon when high school was dismissed the rain was at its height and the streets were raging torrents. J. B. St. Clair,
new owner of the Club Garage, 107 East Colorado, saw the predicament of the students and furnished three automobiles to take as many as possible to their homes.

T. W. Preston of North Jackson

SAN DIEGO HIT BY ELECTRIC STORM

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 20.—A near cloudburst, accompanied by the longest electrical storm in recent history, demoralized street car service, flooded some homes and stores and caused rivers here to rise with alarming rapidity today.
A washout on the Santa Fe tracks
inside the city limits was discovered just before the crack Los Angeles train arrived and a wreck prevented.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HOLD SESSION FOR CHIEFS

Grand Officers Were Guests at Big Meeting
Monday

Knights Templar showed their valor by going almost one hundred per cent to honor officers of the Grand Commandery, state of California, who were making their official visit to Pasadena Commandery No. 31, Alhambra Commandery No. 48, Glendale Commandery No. 53, and Hollywood Commandery No. 56, all of whom gathered to welcome them at the Glendale Commandery.

The guest list included Eminent Sir William Harrison White of San Francisco, grand commander; General Wankowsky, junior past commander; Sir W. Malcolm of Long Beach, and Major Copp of Los Angeles, both grand officers; Sir Audrey Parke of Long Beach, district inspector; and a grand officer from San Diego.

These were all guests at the home of Past Commander Daniel Campbell, where they were served to a sumptuous dinner with appointments in keeping with such a feast which the hostess, who is a past mistress, provided, and from Ard Evin they adjourned to the Masonic temple where the work of the evening took place.

All four commanderies took part. Glendale's commandery receiving the grand officers, Hollywood giving the Order of Malta in long form, and Alhambra presiding during the final speeches following the work and also closing the commandery.

The giving of the Order of Malta by Pasadena Commandery was a very fine piece of work. It is seldom done in this way and was beautifully presented, winning the special commendation of Grand Commander White as did also Hollywood Commandery for its opening work.

After the close of the commandery an adjournment was taken to the banquet hall where a supper provided by Mrs. Campbell and assisting ladies, past matrons of Glen Eyrie, Chapter, O. E. S., awaited them—chicken patties, coffee, ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Campbell as chairman had charge of a program of nonsense Christmas stunts which included the bestowal of many presents. To the grand commander was first given a tin loving cup of unique design, with a grandiloquent speech by Mrs. Campbell.

To Mattison B. Jones, who is grand master of one of the veils, a white veil was given. Commander Moyle of Glendale received a string of green beads. All the can dides who had been initiated during the term of Daniel Campbell as commander, were seated at a babies' table where they were given candy canes.

Every notable present received a whimsical gift of some sort and it was a very jolly affair which will be remembered with pleasure by every participant.

IMMIGRATION IS O. K. AS IT STANDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Sniping interests of the country believe the three per cent restrictive immigration law should be continued with amendments protecting the visa systems to prevent foreign nations from exceeding their quotas. P. A. S. Franklin, of the International Mercantile Marine Steamship Lines, told the house immigration committee today. Franklin declined to discuss the controversy between the immigration officials and the Cunard liner Aquitania, which has arrived in this country with immigrants in excess of quotas.

BANKER SUICIDES

GREELEY, Colo., Dec. 20.—The body of Robert A. Hoffman, president of the Greeley Loan & Trust company, was found in an unoccupied house here late yesterday. Hoffman had committed suicide by shooting, police believed. No motive for the act is known.

BIG VERDICT

ST. PAUL, Dec. 20.—The state supreme court has affirmed the verdict for Harold Carlson, a Great Northern brakeman, for $45,000, the largest verdict for personal injuries ever passed on by the court.

Special Meet — Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, is having a meeting Wednesday evening, following a dinner at the Masonic Temple which will be served at 6 o'clock, when the Order of the Temple will be given to two candidates.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

Co-Operating With the Doctor

Mrs. Jones was just recovering from bronchitis when her husband came home from the office one evening with a temperature, a painful cough, and a feeling of general depression. She sent him to bed and called her eldest daughter, who was almost eighteen to her bedside.

"I want you to telephone for the doctor," she said, "and when he comes go with him to father's room, and stay with him while he examines your father's chest."

"But mother—how can I? I never know what to do when the doctor wants to examine any one in this house. I turn hot and cold all over if he looks at me. Can't you possibly let him go up to see father alone?"

About Fathers and Daughters

"He could, of course," said the mother, with disappointment in her face as well as her voice. "But it seems to me that with a daughter who is almost grown up in the house, it isn't really being very kind to father. You know how men are. They never will tell the doctor how sick they are. You can tell the doctor that your father has a temperature and that he has a headache, and then the doctor will feel at least that your father has some one to look after him."

"But what shall I do? And what shall I say?"

Marie looked almost as helpless as she felt.

"The first thing the doctor will want is a towel. He will examine your father's chest. He will use the stethoscope."

"What's a stethoscope?" asked Marie.

"It's a tube for conveying sounds in auscultation," said her mother, patiently.

"And what," said Marie, "is auscultation?"

"It is the method of determining the condition of an organ by listening to it," said her mother, "not quite so patiently."

Bandit Gang Held Murder Three in Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Two members of a bandit gang have confessed to over forty holdups, police say today.

John Burke and George Bolen were the first members of the gun gang to be picked up. They cleared up the mystery surrounding the killing of Max Rupinski six months ago, of Alex. Watson on March 10, 1921, and of Walter C. Archibald, a yellow cab chauffeur, slain last night when he resisted them.

With Burke and Bolen were arrested George Wilson and Tong Polk, proprietor of a saloon. This evening the police rounded up Jerry Starr, the fifth member of the gang, implicated in the three murders and all the robberies by the confessions.

Robbery was the sole occupation of the gang, according to those of its members who have talked. They did not hesitate to commit murder in pursuing their industry. The saloon operated by Polk was merely a hangout and a storage dump for the burglar tools and pistols of the gang and a meeting place to plan crimes and divide the plunder.

LORD LEE FAVORS CANNING ALL SUBS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the British admiralty, will tell a plenary session of the arms conference probably Thursday—that his nation regards the submarine as a viper endangering commerce and making war cheaper instead of more difficult. Believing that he will have a generous measure of support from not only British, but also American public opinion, he will plead that this weapon be abolished from the seas.

PARDONS TO COME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—President Harding will make an important announcement regarding pardoning of political prisoners Friday, it was learned officially at the White House today. Several Christmas pardons will be announced.

Some men wouldn't be other than hypocrites if they could.

Secret Treaty Was Cause of Long Duration of World War

England, France, Italy and Rumania Brought Latter Countries Into Conflict Is Declaration of Czernin Who Gives Much "Inside" History of War

PARIS, Dec. 20.—Secret agreements, negotiated by the British and French Foreign Offices, in 1915, to bring Italy and Rumania into the war actually prolonged the war nearly two years, at the cost of hundreds of thousands of human lives.

Count Czernin, former Austrian Foreign Minister, made this revelation to Georges Moreste, special correspondent of the International News Service and Le Petit Journal, in a statement at Vienna, made since the war ended. These agreements, he said, made it absolutely impossible for the peace efforts made by former Emperor Charles of Austria, in 1917, acting through President Wilson, Premier Clemenceau and the Prince of Bourbon, to succeed.

Count Czernin said that he did not want to discuss in any manner Charles himself.

"This reservation having been made," he continued, "I have no hesitancy in saying that peace was not concluded in 1917 between the Entente and Austria (it was conceded that this would have brought peace with Germany) because it was absolutely impossible.

"France and England, to obtain allies, had promised to pay them at the expense of Austria. This was quite natural, but these engagements made by the Government of London and Paris, fatally tied the Double-Monarchy's interests to those of Germany.

Some of the "Plums"

"The treaty of London, concluded in 1915 between France, England, Russia and Italy, promised to Italy the Trentino, German Tyrol, Trieste and Dalmatia. Another treaty attributed to Bosnia and Herzegovina to Serbia, and later Rumania was induced to enter the war on the side of the Allies by offering her Transylvania and Bukovina.

"The Allies had thus sold one-third of our Empire in advance, certainly not because of special hatred of Austria-Hungary, but to increase their military forces and their chances of victory. The misfortune was that Austria was to support by herself the cost of this policy. France and England, in 1917, could have easily made peace with us, but, bound by secret treaties, they could only offer conditions to Austria-Hungary which would satisfy the aspirations of the Italians, the Serbians and the Rumanians. But these conditions were unacceptable for us.

"Think of such a paradoxical situation! Our armies occupied Rumania, Serbia, and maintained invulnerably the Italian frontier; yet we were asked to dismember the monarchy for the profit of our enemies, who, at that time, seemed indeed to be conquered. From the very first conversations Italy made known to Paris and London that she expected to receive the territories promised her and that nothing could modify her attitude. France and England remained faithful to their ally, which was quite natural. It was a question of loyalty. If they had done otherwise Italy would have detached herself from the alliance, an event which would have produced a very disagreeable effect throughout the world for the Entente.

Austria Couldn't Make Peace

"But at that moment we could not have consented to the dismemberment of Austria-Hungary. Our army and our people, who considered themselves victorious, since they occupied vast enemy territories, would have thought themselves betrayed by their government; revolution would have broken out, and the Emperor would have been overthrown.

"The Austro-Hungarian Government, therefore, could not separate its fortunes from those of Germany. It was not for love of the King of Prussia that we continued the war, but because the treaty of London prevented us from laying down arms. If the Entente had been willing to content itself with changes in frontier in place of wanting to cut up our Empire, I would not have hesitated to make peace, whether Germany liked it or not. I would have said to Germany: 'I am making peace,' and I would have appealed to German public opinion and to Europe, and Germany herself would have been forced to accede."

BOARD WILL MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

The Glendale board of education will have a special meeting Thursday night at the Intermediate school to go over the plans of George M. Lindsey, architect of the Grand View and Acacia avenue schools. Earlier in the day, Superintendent Richardson D. White will have a conference with Alfred Priest, architect of the new Intermediate, and of the new units at other campuses, and will make a report of the conference to the board.

WALLACE IS NOT AGAINST SENATE

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—A sharp conflict with President Harding's cabinet over the agricultural "bloc" in congress was revealed here today in a speech by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Speaking in the stronghold of Secretary of War Weeks, who opened the administration campaign to wipe out the farm bloc in a recent address in New York, Wallace vigorously upheld the bloc members for their organized stand on recent legislation. Wallace spoke before the chamber of commerce.

PRESERVE HOME

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 20.—The John Harris home may be preserved as a historical monument of early days in Kansas City. A delegation appeared before the park board proposing to purchase and move the house, provided the board would give a suitable site.

TROOPS REMAIN

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Arrangements for the withdrawal of troops from Ireland has been cancelled. The Evening Standard stated today. The decision was made because of the uncertainty of the action of the Dail Eireann on the Anglo-Irish treaty, it was said.

GETTING GOOD

LONDON, Dec. 20.—It is announced from Bombay that fifteen prominent non-cooperation leaders in united provinces have been sentenced to from six to eighteen months' imprisonment on charges of assisting in management of unlawful institutions. A total of 121 persons have been arrested in Delhi to date.

WEIRD GIFT FOR DORA STEWARD

Bracelet Taken From Dead Girl in Wilds of Africa

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 20.—A bracelet recently awarded to Miss Dora B. Steward, a student in journalism at Oregon agricultural college, has a gruesome as well as an interesting history, according to Professor F. L. Snow, who made the award and to whom the bracelet originally belonged.

Professor Snow discovered the bauble on the arm of an African girl who died in 1916 in a cave in Rhodesia, South Africa, when the tribe had been punished by the whites for stealing livestock pastured outside their stronghold.

According to the story Professor Snow learned during his explorations, the whites warned the natives to refrain from stealing the stock, or the caves would be destroyed by dynamite. They failed to obey the whites, and many lost their lives in the caves. The bracelet is without design, heavy and oval in shape. Apparently it once may have had.

Austrian Princess Famed For Her Practical Jokes

VIENNA, Dec. 20.—The Princess Pauline Metternich, who died recently at the age of 85 in this city, was noted for the practical jokes she played on Paris society. During the reign of Napoleon III, the son of Bonaparte's inveterate enemy, was Austrian ambassador at Paris.

Europe watched to see how the Metternichs would be received at the French court, and many prophesied they would not be welcome because of the elder Metternich and his part in the downfall of France in 1815. But the brilliancy of the princess soon captured the French. After the Franco-Prussian war and the death of her husband, Princess Metternich visited Paris annually and it was on one of these visits that she played one of her most famous jokes.

At a dinner she was giving in the home of the Countess de Pourtales, 50 men and women were gathered and, with the exception of four strangers, two young men and two young women, introduced as Hungarian friends of the princess, all were well-known to Mme. Pourtales and to one another.

The strangers were seated two at each end of the table, and no one paid much attention to them. The time for dessert came and gayety had reached its climax. Suddenly one of the Hungarian girls seized a champagne bottle and hurled it to the other end of the table, where it was cleverly caught by one of the young men. At the same time the other Magyar girl sent flying down the table four Bohemian vases, which were all caught with practiced dexterity and quickly returned. And then the air was filled with flying cut-glass, plates, dishes and vases of flowers and orchids.

Women screamed and crouched beneath the table, while the men tried to restrain the four guests whom all thought were crazed with champagne. By this time the four strangers had mounted the table and were leaping among the dishes and glasses, bounding backward and forward and keeping the air full of china, silver and glass.

It was some time before the princess was able to reassure her badly bewildered and frightened guests and to reintroduce the Hungarians as a famous troupe of acrobats and jugglers of the Theatre Marigny.

BEE PALMER GIVES DIG TO DEMPSEY

Shimmy Girl Says All Prize Fighters Look Alike to Her

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Bee Palmer, originator of the "shimmy," stopped wiggling her shoulders long enough today to take some digs at her husband, Al Siegel, and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion. Siegel is suing Dempsey for $250,000 for alienation of his wife's affections. Said Bee of her husband:

"Al Siegel is a cheap piano player whom I picked out of the gutter and married."

Concerning Jack Dempsey, who characterized the suit as "the scheme of two cheap vaudeville performers for publicity," the blonde Bee said: "It is true that I appeared on the stage with Dempsey, but our relations were purely professional. It wasn't complimentary to appear with a prizefighter. They all look alike to me."

MAC NIDER GIVES HOPE TO EUROPE

Head of American Legion Sends His Greetings to Comrades

PARIS, Dec. 20.—In a message to the Inter-Allied Veterans Federation, which opened its second annual conference here today, Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, declared the Federation "will be a stronger factor toward the prevention of future war than any limitation of armaments conference or any international agreement."

The Federation is a union of veterans' societies which are made up of men who fought in the armies and navies of seven of the Allied countries during the World War. Delegates are present from the United States, the British Empire, including overseas dominions, France, Belgium, Italy, Roumania, and Czechoslovakia. The American member of the Federation is the American Legion.

Commander MacNider's message was presented by William B. Follett, of Eugene, Oregon, former national vice commander of the Legion, and chairman of the American delegation of five. Follett also extended an invitation on behalf of the American Legion to the Federation to hold its next world meeting in New Orleans in October, 1922, in connection with the fourth annual convention of the American Legion. Commander MacNider's message follows:

"The American Legion send you greetings with the earnest hope that this meeting and the year ahead may be filled with great achievements for the cause of all ex-service men, for the countries for which we fought and for the civilized world.

"Our union is sealed and the strength of our friendship and comradeship is a guarantee to the world of happier days and a future pregnant with opportunities to bind even closer the strongest ties men can have—those of serving side by side in battle against the loss of civilization.

"It is our belief that the time is nearly ripe for concerted action toward the great ends to which we are pledged in spirit. The Inter-Allied Veterans Federation, composed of men who know what war means and who with open eyes and vivid memories of those experiences which only can be gained upon the field of battle, will be a stronger factor toward the prevention of future war than any limitation of armaments conference or any international agreement.

"We pledge to you—in memory of our comrades who did not come back, and with constant thought of those who, blind, maimed and broken, must live the war forever—that the people of the world shall have the opportunity to say that such things must never come again.

"We must build up our legions so big and fine and strong, and tie them into our national existences by such firm bonds of service, that our great nations will stand behind the men who offered their lives for the defense of liberty.

"That is our first task.

"Our next task stands clearly before us, and for this great service to humanity, we pledge ourselves to you—our comrades of yesterday, today and tomorrow."

STORK WILL LEAVE XMAS PRESENTS

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—There are going to be 192 wee little Christmas presents deposited in California homes on Christmas day. One hundred and ninety-two pairs of eyes will get their first glimpse of the world Christmas day, according to figures compiled by Statistician L. E. Ross of the state board of health here. At least, that is the number of births that will occur in this state on that day, Ross estimated. He doesn't know the names of those who are to receive the particular presents. His estimate is based on years of study on the birth rate tables in the department here.

DICK CROKER IS ILL IN IRELAND

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 20.—Richard Croker, former Tammany chieftain, is seriously ill in Ireland, according to a cablegram received by Bruce Garrett, an attorney of Pryor, Okla., today from Mrs. Beulah B. TOURNAMENT OF ROSES PAGEANT

JANUARY 2, 1922 PASADENA

EAST vs. WEST FOOTBALL GAME

Washington and Jefferson UNDEFEATED EASTERN COLLEGE
California
UNBEATEN IN THE WEST

The Greatest Annual Event in Southern California!

For years, hundreds of thousands have enjoyed the wonderfully beautiful Floral Parade in the morning and the Sports at Tournament Park in the afternoon on New Year's Day.

Some years ago we had chariot races, and of recent years a great East vs. West Football Game. That this game has been popular has been attested to by the fact that although our park seats 42,000, over 40,000 more were unable to secure seats last year. We have outgrown our present facilities, and the building of a great Stadium is of vital necessity that we may continue with our Tournament of Roses and perpetuate the great New Year's Intersectional game and be able to handle the crowds.

Purchase seats now for a five or ten year period, which seats become your absolute property for the time purchased, to retain or dispose of at your pleasure. Seats are sold as follows:

5-year Seats, $50 and $5 war tax—$17.50 Cash
$12.50 Feb. 1st, April 1, June 1, 1922

10-year Seats, $100 and $10 war tax—$35.00 Cash
$25.00 Feb. 1st, April 1, June 1, 1922

Having no Stadium for this year's football game, each purchaser of a 5 or 10 year seat is entitled to two seats at $5 each, or four at $2.50 each, for this year in Tournament Park.

No seats will be available for the coming game except to purchasers of 5 or 10 year Stadium seats, as the capacity of our Park will be absorbed by this plan.

Seats good for every attraction scheduled for the Stadium—Football, Baseball, Horse Shows, Athletic Events, Pageants, Circuses, etc.

Truths in Epigram

Every hero becomes a bore at last. — Emerson (1803-1882).

Man is not the creature of circumstances. Circumstances are the creatures of man. — Disraeli (1804-1881).

A rose is sweeter in the bud than full blown. — Lyly (1553-1601).

PASADENA'S TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

This end of California, particularly, is interested in Pasadena's Tournament of Roses. Thousands of its residents will be glad that the announcement giving details of the great event has been made. It is believed the floral parade will exceed in elaborateness and beauty any of the many successful displays recorded in the history of the pageant.

The Tournament has for many years been a fine advertisement for this end of the state. Illustrated accounts of it are printed all over the world. These are extremely effective. The spectacle of living bloom and verdure shown in the open New Year's day is impressive. It is a wonder and a revelation to the sections that at that season are struggling with snow and frost. It tells much more than could be conveyed by any publication circulated for business reasons. Frozen mortals kicking their way through drifts and blizzards, naturally desire to visit a region of such climatic charm. They come, they are here, they stay. There is not a city in southern California that does not owe some of its population to the Tournament of Roses.

There is wide interest in football, but thousands enjoy the parade who do not care especially for the strenuous sport of the gridiron. So enthusiastic are the followers of the game, however, and so ardent the two sets of rooters, even in advance, that a stranger might get the impression that the contest was the leading event. It is a splendid and helpful event, but the great attraction is the unexpended parade, radiant with color; a sight not elsewhere to be beheld.

LOSS THROUGH ACCIDENTS

Records of the state board of health show that 800 lives are lost annually in California through automobile accidents.

There is no way of determining what proportion of these accidents were avoidable. Probably four out of five were due to carelessness. A certain number of disasters are inevitable, despite all precautions, on highways where thousands of machines are in motion. There will be defects in mechanism, or sudden imperfections develop in the road bed, due to storms. But every reader of a paper knows that the auto crash which he learns of in the morning, was occasioned by disregard of rules, by excessive speed, by ignoring the tendency to skid, by trying to beat a train over a crossing.

There is talk of regulation to prevent the continuation of the fatal practices. Experience has demonstrated that any such regulation will be futile, at least in part. Brains cannot be legislated into a bonehead, or human impulses be set in motion within bars of stone. The drunken driver is devoid of discretion. Commonsense is the great element lacking. There is no visible source of supply.

In addition to the mortality loss, the financial is set at $50,000,000 annually, not an inconsiderable, but a generally unconsidered item.

To suggest a remedy for all this tragic abuse of circumstance would be a great pleasure. There seems to be none to suggest.

WHEN IS A CONFESSION

A reporter over his signature made oath to the authenticity of a document which he termed a "confession." It was supposed to have emanated from a man charged with murder. It gave a circumstantial account of the crime, not omitting a detail.

The time for trial of the prisoner arrived. Had the "confession" been introduced, and had the jury believed it, there would have been no course but to find the prisoner guilty. An innocent man charged with murder is not eager to place a noose about his neck.

But the document was not introduced. Apparently it was not regarded as worthy. The prosecution must have looked upon it as a fabrication. The outcome is not to be viewed as a triumph either for the reporter or the school of journalism to which he belongs.

At the time the stuff was first printed, newspaper men generally pronounced it a fake. It seemed to be a clever yarn woven of the material available to a reporter who might choose to make such use of it as this one did make.

In all probability it presented many facts. In all probability the man supposed to have confessed, had been the last person in the world to assemble these facts, and give them to the world.

PASSING THE BUCK

"Passing the buck" is of slang origin, possibly still to be regarded as slang. It has the peculiarity of being expressive. It conveys its meaning tersely. It stands for the attempt to dodge an issue, to shift responsibility.

When the vice chairman of the railroad labor board stated that the future of this republic depended upon the conduct of organized labor he was passing the buck. At least he was seeking to convey the idea that labor would be to blame if things went to smash.

A part of the responsibility rests upon labor organizations. An equal part rests upon the opponents of such organizations. The latter have organizations of their own. They proclaim that there shall be no class rule. So say we all of us. But one of these bodies, as truly as the other, represents a class. For either to rule unhindered would represent measureless calamity.

The interests of the commonwealth are the intimate concern of each citizen. He may be one who toils with a spade on the highway. He may be the one who rides by in a limousine. He may belong to the average type for whom the street car serves. With which ever set his lot has been cast, he has rights that it is at once his inclination and his duty to defend.

It does not follow that he and his class associates are to dominate. This is a nation. There is a single constitution covering every man and woman within its confines. The constitution does not bestow privileges on one that it withholds from another.

The way to protect the future is for every individual to do his best in whatever may be his field of activity, and not to strive to do it selfishly, or with an eye to the advantage of any one group of the many groups making up the complete national structure.

CHRISTMAS GENEROSITY

There has been quick answer this year to the call on behalf of the poor. Particularly has the appeal for children excited ready and fine response. If there is a child anywhere in this state to whom the coming of Christmas shall mean nothing, it will not be because of lack of effort to reach every boy and girl.

The fact is brought to light that there is considerable actual suffering. There is opportunity for substantial gifts. Unemployment as a problem has not touched in this section the acute stage that has marked it elsewhere. Nevertheless there are some willing hands that find no work to do. There are sensitive persons, in every way worthy, whose pride prevents them from making their wants known.

To hunt out such individuals, to approach them in a spirit of friendliness untouched by condescension, and to assure them that they belong to the big Christmas family, is a fine work. They will understand them. They will know that if a gift brings joy, it affords the giver at least an equal pleasure.

Many are zealously engaged in Christmas work. There are countless chances to help along splendid schemes of promoting holiday cheer. The man or woman who contributes to any of the organizations, clubs, or newspapers engaged in gathering material for Christmas is doing a good work, and must feel joy in doing it. Even then, every such man or woman must know of specific cases where aid may be tendered as a personal matter quite apart from organized activities.

Patience is a splendid virtue—in others.

A spoiled child is to be pitied. Also its parents.

A girl seldom begins to take life seriously until she has been up against one case of unrequited love.

No man who is unable to eat spaghetti gracefully should attempt to compile a book on table etiquette.

It is easy to convince the average woman that her husband is always right—except when he is arguing with her.

It's a sign that he isn't married to the right woman if a man sits up and takes notice of every noisily dressed female that passes.

THE DEBTS OF THE NATIONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

One of Mr. Vanderlip's vital and most sound suggestions is that the United States collect the money which other nations owe her and devote it to the rehabilitation of Europe.

This idea goes down to the granite bed-rock of common sense.

The debt of the nations at present are mountain high. Just how much they are does not matter. The figures mean nothing to us, for they only dazzle us, stupefy us.

Suffice it to say, that as humanity attempts to rise after the knock-out blow of the war, it finds an incubus of debt upon its back which threatens its collapse.

Great Britain owes the United States an incredible sum. The other nations owe Great Britain incredible sums. Everybody owes everybody else a lot more than they have any prospect of paying.

If somehow the world's debt to the United States, which is the principal creditor, were removed, it would be like unlocking a prison door for humanity.

Mr. Vanderlip's idea contains two points.

1. The debts of the world to the United States should not be remitted. The nations should be given to understand that they will have to pay them and the interest on them. We cannot commence reconstruction on a basis of dishonesty. And these debts were made fair and square. They ought to be paid and the world can pay them.
2. Yet the United States should not take a cent of this money for its own use. It should spend it all on the reconstruction of Europe.

If you would know how, ask Hoover, or any business man of large vision and he could easily tell you.

As suggestions it might be mentioned that the colleges and schools of Europe should be helped to get on their feet and to increase their efficiency. All real construction must begin with the youth. Let us do what we can to raise up a better generation.

In the second place, railways might be built and broken-down railways improved.

Of progress, the most essential factor is transportation. Develop and perfect the systems of transportation and prosperity will follow.

In the third place, this money might be spent for the advancement of science and invention.

In these three ways and in others Europe could be helped again to its feet.

This is not an altruistic scheme, although altruism is the most effective practicality; you might call it intelligent selfishness, rather.

For a prosperous Europe would mean a prosperous United States. It would mean a mass of new customers for our goods. We are world merchants and a merchant succeeds according to the spread of general welfare among his customers.

Some such plan as this, if we could only have the courage and vision to carry it through, would not only be immediately practical, but it would result in giving to America the permanent leadership of the world. If we only had enough big Americans, men with statesmanship and not men of partisanship, we would grasp this opportunity to take our place in the forefront of civilization.

THE LISTENING POST

"I'll never do it again, Mamma! I'll never do it again!"
Doubtless you have heard that one time.
Perhaps you have said it.
You were an unusual boy if at some time you did not say it.

In the old days you remember.
When Mamma had tried everything else perhaps.
Persuasion and good counsel and urging and kind words.
But everything seemed to fail of its object.

You were just itching for a spanking.
You remember how you did that sometimes.
And after patience had been exhausted and good nature was worn out, the spanking came.
And you declared you "would never do it again!"

Rather pitiful it was.
And altogether childlike.
And Mamma declared it hurt her just as much as it did you.
And perhaps it did.
But in a different way.
And in a different place.

You sobbed rather convulsively.
And shrieked perhaps.
More frightened and shocked than hurt.
Although perhaps it did sting a little.
Enough to awaken you to a consciousness of your recent misdeeds.

You promised to do better.
Surely that was natural enough.
Most of us do.
When the spanking time comes.
But up to that time we do much as we choose.

And then the sting of the brisk palm or slipper awakens us to a knowledge of the consequence of misdeeds.
Of defiance and disobedience.
And we make high and solemn vows to goodness for all time to come.

There was all the humanity in the world in that outcry.
"I'll never do it again!"
And for the time being you meant it.
Until the sting and shock of it all was forgotten.
And the promise with them.
And you did the same thing again.

As in all of the phases of life.
We keep "doing it again."
For it is the fallible human nature in us that makes us repeat our mistakes.
And misdeeds and offenses.
After the sting and hurt of the spanking has gone.

There is Mamma Experience, for instance.
Not an unkindly old lady.
But offering us good advice and splendid example.

She says:
"Don't do that! See what happened to the Jones boy or the Smith boy or the Brown boy!"

She would spare us punishment and sting and hurt.
But eventually it comes.
Down comes the palm or the slipper.
For Mamma Experience has sometimes a heavy hand.
And we cry out.
We will not "do it again!"

After all, big as we grow and strong as we think we are, we remain children to a considerable degree.

We invite our spankings.
And they sting and hurt.
And we promise we will not do it again.

But the sting and hurt are forgotten.
And we do it again.
And again Mamma Experience lifts the stinging palm or slipper.
Many of us keep "itching for spankings."

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Beggar Maid—By Alfred Tennyson (1809-1892)

Her arms across her breast she laid;
She was more fair than words can say:
Bare-footed came the beggar maid
Before the king Cophetua.
In robe and crown the king stepped down,
To meet and greet her on her way;
"It is no wonder," said the lords,
"She is more beautiful than day."

As shines the moon in clouded skies,
She in her poor attire was seen;
One praised her ankles, one her eyes,
One her dark hair and lovesome mien.
So sweet a face, such angel grace,
In all that land had never been:
Cophetua swore a royal oath:
"This beggar maid shall be my queen!"

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

"A NATION OF IDEALS"

[Concord Monitor]

"There is no better way for America to serve Europe than for her to remain just what she is; namely, a nation having an ideal and defending it." This is the pronouncement of Marshal Poch in a recent interview about the coming arms conference.

After so intense a period of concentration on ideals, so tense a strain on the emotional nature, the reaction into cynicism which we have seen in the last couple of years has been, perhaps, only what was to have been expected. But the heart of the nation has begun to beat once more after its collapse. Everywhere are to be seen signs of reviving sanity and idealism. Health is returning to the public mind and strength to the public soul.

An arms conference of this nature a year ago would have been a failure. This year it may become a success. It can be so only if America remembers that idealism is her very lifeblood, that holding visions beyond those of other nations is her normal state. Only by being normal, and herself, can she help the world.

HOW TO RUN A SOVIET SHOP

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELIA STEWART

There's one variety of parent that most of us could see consigned to slow tortures without regret. It's the one who depends on the fearsome "bogie man," or "that awful policeman around the corner" as a means of discipline for offspring.

We've all heard it. "Stop your crying!" (Rising crescendo of voice, often accompanied by violent shaking of the little offender). "Stop this minute! S-T-O-P, or the bogie man will get you! See him hiding in the corner there? Come, Bogie Man, come get him!" (Another shake, and so on, until the child is too scared and bewildered to do anything else than scream).

Why expect to grow figs from thistles? Why expect truth in a child and lie to him whenever we wish? Why expect happy obedience and proceed to frighten him half out of his wits? Only a few weeks ago, a small child died in agony, crying out for protection against the terrible "bogie man" with which his parents had peopled his dreaming and waking hours.

Why expect respect from our children when we are not worth it? Why so openly confess to others the shortness of our tempers, the paucity of our resources for government? Why show so plainly our own untruth, our own stupidity, our own ignorance, our own impatience?

It's really too bad that for such parents there is not available swift justice—that some giant "bogie man" does not lurk near, to whom they may be thrown! They richly deserve it!

turned from a year's detention in Soviet Russia. There is a shop manager—doubtless but one of an unchronicled many—in Sovietdom who in the innocence of his heart and in his strong desire to serve the state made a woeful guess. He had seen much in official Bolshevik print in praise of efficiency, had seen and heard much of the official counsel to produce, produce, produce. Accordingly he acted. The 1900 men under him had been producing only four automobiles a week. But when 1600 of these, or 84 per cent were laid off, he succeeded in getting the same output from the remaining 300. Naturally he was elated, for he was showing results consonant with the official counsel. But the 1600, who before the lay-off had devoted themselves largely to making things on government time out of government materials for their own use or profit, demanded that they be taken back. When the manager refused, they formally denounced him as a counter revolutionary, with the result that he went to jail while they went back to their jobs. When he gets out—if he ever does—he will know better how to run a Soviet workshop.

REVERTED TO HIMSELF

[Charleston News and Courier]

It was merely a question of time before Tom Watson would reveal himself to the country. How does Georgia like the kind of advertising she is getting now?

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is amusing to watch a contest for determination of the proper size of a legal fee. In many instances the theory that the size is to be established at the utmost attainable possibility, has seemed to be perfectly established.

Not long ago a lawyer is said to have charged a woman $650 to defend her in the Federal court. He did not appear when the case was called, and his client being found guilty, was fined $1.

At once an opinion was formed, members of the bar coinciding, that the lawyer had charged so much too much that he ought to be penalized. There is nothing on record but the expression of disapproval. Doubtless this may be borne sturdily by a person enriched by 650 totally unearned dollars.

In a case now under consideration lawyers demand a fee of $267,500. They have no difficulty in getting others of the profession to state that such fee would be proper, and no more than represent the value of the services rendered.

The concern that is asked to let go of the considerable sum involved demurs. It indicates a willingness to pay the $500. Surely among gentlemen a discrepancy of only $267,000 ought to be adjusted easily enough.

Consideration of the principle governing legal fees brings one precisely to the point of beginning. There is nothing to impair the theory that the proper fee is the biggest within reach.

The day set for the hanging of "Terrible Tommy," prominent citizen, politician and murderer of Chicago, passed without the principal intruding upon the scene.

They know now how this thug made his escape, and have locked up some of the degraded creatures who helped him.

A construction of the law so as to make the confederates accessory after the fact, and then hanging them in a somber row from the scaffold intended for the vanished assassin, would be popular.

Senator France wants to have the soviet government recognized. In writing a headline over the record of this important fact, perhaps there was no intention of making the words appear "soviet government re-organized," but so they appeared.

This was a great improvement over the France idea, even if it did intrude by accident.

Senator France has been to Russia and came out bulging with bolshevist propaganda.

The statement has been made that the future of this country depends upon organized labor.

So it does, in part. It depends upon American citizenship, some of which is embraced in labor organizations, and some in organizations having the purpose of preventing labor from organizing.

A Miss Cunningham, who professes to know all about the gorilla, describes it as a fearful and timorous animal. It is gentle as a lambkin, would run from a baby's rattle, and in all its flawless life, never beat its breast in rage.

It would be interesting to know what sort of a creature the lady has been petting. Possibly she confounds the gorilla with an ailing chimpanzee trained in the movies.

Many years ago, probably a full half century, Dr. Paul Chailu, a French explorer, came out of Africa with the first real information concerning the gorilla. He also brought stuffed specimens of the strange animal, and articulated skeletons.

Far from being a weakling, the mature and morose gorilla would have no difficulty, and show no hesitation, in breaking a man in half. The gorilla is not a pet. The lady is in error.

The public is patient, but sometimes it is sorely tried by the young woman who gets herself into print under the name "Billy." There is no more distinctly masculine title than "Bill." If a girl wants to have that title in the family, it is up to her to find a nice William and marry him.

Not long ago a youth was sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to fourteen years, but was allowed to go to a state reformatory instead, to remain until twenty-one. There was his chance and he threw it away.

Recently he was brought back to court for an offense worse than the first one. The suspension of his original sentence was set aside, and he is where he belongs.

Of course, parole may still be granted in his behalf, but it is to be hoped that the purveyors of clemency will not be in a hurry about it.

The belief that there is honor among thieves has received its last, shattering blow.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Angelo has been my pet bootlegger for at least a year. His is the real old stuff; he sells it at decent prices, and he makes deliveries when and as he promises.

"Poor dago son of a gun," Angelo used to say of himself. "Joo's tryin' make good-a beezness. Poor wop son of a gun lika have da good-a customer."

But they pinched Angelo with all the goods on him and the prohibition agents gave out interviews, and it looks as though Angelo may spend the next few months up the canal. I went to the wickup to see Angelo. I didn't mind injuring my reputation, for the prohibition agent who pinched Angelo helped me drink up one of the bottles of Angelo's booze.

"They say," said the prohibition agent, "that this Eytalian bird knew where to get the best stuff, and by thunder they were right."

Angelo said that he was about ready to quit, anyhow. He said, that when he first came to this country no one had a good word for him. Every one referred to him as "that dam wop," except when they called him "that dirty dago."

"Da American, he no care," said Angelo. "But das aw ri."

Angelo did not feel that it was the duty of any American to care, particularly. He thought the government—or somebody, rather vaguely—might have helped him to know more about this country. Some—still vague—person or organization might have steered him around a little. If he had been told something of the habits and customs and prices and where to get a job it would have been much easier.

"Jeez," said Angelo, reflectively. "Sure did have da dam' hard time. Alla da time go to send money back da dam old home."

So he went to bootlegging. Breaking the law did not mean anything to him. The law had been just a barb wire fence. It had never been a help. He borrowed his first capital from the president of the National Bank.

"You loan-a me da mon, I get da whisk," was his statement of assets. Most of his customers have been of the ultra respectable sort. I'm one of that sort myself. Now Angelo is going to quit bootlegging. While he is in jail, he says, he plans to read up a little about the United States.

"Dam fin-a country," said Angelo. "Plenty good-a for me. Now I gotta da mon, I be a good American, too."

CHRISTMAS PARTY

BY MISS FUELSCHER

Miss Annie Fuelscher of 237 South Orange street entertained Saturday night at a Christmas party. The house was attractively decorated in red and green and a beautifully decorated Christmas tree stood in one corner of the living room. A. H. Fuelscher, father of the hostess, came out dressed as Santa Claus and presented each guest with a gift. The evening was spent in playing games, after which refreshments of red and green ice cream and cakes were served.

Prizes were won by Miss Martha Eilers and Harold Majors. The guests included Miss Mildred Thompson, Miss Margaret Fife, Miss Martha Eilers, Miss Louise Holt and Miss Margaret Majors; Messrs. Paul Edmonds, Harold Majors, Rebit Miles, Harold Parker and Percy Jewell.

PHILATHEA CLASS

WEATHERED STORM

In spite of the bad weather Monday night, 15 members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church made their appearance at the home of Mrs. Carl Seitter, who had invited them to a Christmas party at her home, 119 North Louise street.

Their courage was rewarded by a delightful evening of games and Christmas carols and the inspection of gifts for the class room, which included a gas heater, a handsome fern in a jardiniere, an attractively framed, and another framed motto, hand-illuminated by Miss Lois Murphy, a member of the class.

"So live today and when tomorrow comes

Thou shalt not cloud the sun with vain regret;
But let thy hand and heart commit those deeds
That love for man and faith in God beget."

There was also a bowl of narcissus bulbs and a wicker tabouret for the fern.

The class had divided itself into groups and united in the purchase of these furnishings, which they will enjoy all the more for their common interest in them. They also presented to Mrs. Seitter a box of nice stationery. At the close of the evening the hostess served refreshments.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

FRIDAY NIGHT

A Christmas entertainment and program is being planned at the First Baptist church for Friday evening, December 23. Mrs. J. L. Gray in charge of the program.

A little play entitled "The Spirit of Christmas" will be presented, all departments of the Sunday school being represented in it, from adults down to the primary department. There will be a Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Christmas tree and candy for all the children.

PRESBYTERIANS

HAVE BUSY WEEK

Members of the women's societies of the First Presbyterian church are having an all-day meeting today with a Christmas luncheon at 12:30, and a missionary program opening at 1:30 of which the theme will be the joyousness of the Christmas season.

At the midweek prayer meeting Wednesday evening, Miss Della Whitton from the "Faith Mission,"

South America, will be a speaker. Tonight there will be a rehearsal of Christmas carols in the church bungalow.

CHURCH CLASSES

IN JOINT MEETING

The "Live Cole" class and the Alpha Omega class of Central Christian church met Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Miller, 434 West Burchett street. The early part of the evening was devoted to a class meeting, after which games were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess to 25 guests.

It was decided at this meeting that the two classes should meet together until the new church building is completed. Rev. Cole, teacher of the "Live Coles," will be the teacher, as Mrs. Musser, teacher of the Alpha Omegas, will be unable to be present on account of the illness of her mother.

FIRST METHODIST

WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Friday evening at 7:45 the great Christmas pageant on which the Sunday school and choir of the First Methodist church have been working for several weeks, will be given. It is entitled "When the Star Shined" and will be impressively staged.

Next Sunday evening the choir of the church will give that great Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah."

Christmas morning the young people of the First M. E. church who have been enlisted in the "Mile of Music" movement, will sing Christmas carols at the home of the sick and aged.

FORGETFUL HYPNOTIST

He was a famous hypnotist, and as usual, he was urged to relate some stories concerning the power he had at his command. More over, he was very absent-minded. "I remember once during my stay in New York I had the pleasure of saving a workman from being killed by a fall. I happened to be looking out of a window two stories higher. I immediately concentrated my hypnotic influence on him and so arrested his fall in midair."

At the hypnotist, conscious that he had made a stir, sat back with a satisfied air.

"But," inquired one of his feminine admirers, "didn't the man publicly thank you for saving his life?"

"Heavens!" the hypnotist exclaimed. "Now I come to think of it, the poor fellow must still be waiting up there for me to free him from the influence."

A SURE SIGN

The little suburb of Mudville cannot by any stretch of imagination be considered a busy place. The railway upholds the reputation of the village.

A visitor to Mudville realized this recently after waiting four hours for an overdue train. He approached the porter.

"Isn't that train coming soon?" he inquired mildly.

Just at that moment a dog came trotting up the line, and a glad smile illuminated the porter's face.

"Oh, yes, sir," replied the official, "it'll be getting here now. Here comes the engineer's dog."

Fashions for Americans

The woman who owns a half worn Hudson seal or other flat fur coat may use the worn parts to good purpose in trimming a fabric coat and constructing a cap and possibly a hat to match for her little girl. The sketch indicates one method of combining fur with fabric in the development of a coat for a child of four or six years. This model was made of a bright red velvet with deep band, collar, and cuffs of Hudson seal. The black and red combination was particularly effective. The little tam carried a touch of red in the ornament placed at one side.

Squirrel, mole, coney, or practically any of the other furs usually employed for coats could be utilized in the trimming of a fabric coat for a child, even pony skin in black or natural color being adaptable to the purpose.

Wool jersey cloth continues to be the favorite fabric for utility frocks for small girls, and never have high shades been so much the vogue. Of course the dark and practical colors such as brown, navy, and dark red hold their own, but the vivid tones are more generally approved. Very bright red, orange, vivid blue, and brilliant green are very popular, and certainly they are very charming for wear on cold, gray winter days.

One smart little frock of bright red jersey cloth recently seen was cut on straight lines, with a round neck and sloping shoulders, and finished with small patch pockets.

The neck, edge of the frock, and the pockets were finished with a button-hole stitch done in heavy wool in a color matching the frock.

and a smart little self-fabric hat accompanied the costume. Mother Goose figures in black taffeta were applied on to the crown of the hat, which was tied about with black taffeta ribbon.

ARMY CRIMES ARE TOLD BY SOLDIER

Gives Instances When Men Were Slain by Order of Officers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The hanging of 12 American soldiers in France was described today by George N. Taylor of Philadelphia, testifying before the senate committee investigating the charges of Senator Tom Watson that American soldiers were hanged without trial. Taylor said he did not know whether the men had been tried by court martial. He told the committee he could call 28 of his comrades to substantiate his testimony.

Watson asked that Colonel W. A. Bethel, acting judge advocate general, and other staff officers be excluded from the room. He said Taylor was subject to epilepsy and "the presence of his superior officers might break his nerve."

"I'd rather have them stay, sir," said Taylor.

Of the 12 men he said he saw hanged, Taylor said two were white and ten were negroes. Five of the victims, he said, were hanged at Camp Wilson, Is-Sur-Tille, and seven were hanging "up on the hill back of the hospital."

The trial, conviction and hanging of a white sergeant of Detroit Mich. by French officers, was told in detail by Taylor. The name of the man was withheld at the request of the committee.

Taylor swore that there was "only one American officer" at the sergeant's trial. French officers conducted the trial, he said. He said that the prisoner was not allowed counsel and declared that the testimony against him was given in French.

Testimony of hangings in France was also given today by Robert A. Harrison of Washington, N. C. "I don't know anything about what you call hangings," said Harrison. "We called 'em lynching parties."

Harrison swore that he saw a man hanged to a tree in a ravine by officers of the 16th infantry. Harrison said he was told that the man was hanged because of "some argument over a woman."

Harrison declared that a private soldier named Benjamin King of Wilmington, N. C., was taken out behind the stockade and hanged by "Hard Boiled" Smith and his sergeants.

"He was told to sweep out the stockade with a toothbrush," said Harrison. When King refused, Harrison said "Hard Boiled" hanged him.

"I saw it with my naked eye," said Harrison. "There wasn't so much as a window glass between me and the hanging."

Asked what explanation had ever been given for King's death, Harrison said: "The war department told his folks that he was severely wounded."

"I've seen men handcuffed and taken to the front without gas masks or anything," said Harrison. "It was just like taking a rabbit out for a bunch of hunters to shoot at."

Henry L. Scott, 22, Akron, Ohio, testified he saw Major Opley of the third battalion, 118th infantry, shoot and kill a sergeant in action near Verdun on October 9, 1918. He also told of Major Opley killing a private on the road a few days later.

"Why did the major kill the sergeant?" asked Senator Brandegee.

"He just lost his head," Scott said.

Scott said the detachment had been ordered to retreat. He said the shells were falling thick and the sergeant started to run forward to get in a shell hole.

"Major Opley yelled at him," said Scott, "but the sergeant didn't hear him. The major grabbed a gun and shot him in the back."

Scott said a few days later Major Opley shot a runner because he would not stop to let him see a message the runner had for another officer. Scott was closely questioned by Colonel Bethel, who said the war department had been unable to find the name of "Major Opley" on the lists.

"I can't swear how the name was spelled," said Scott, "but that was the way he was called."

Says Freheit

ERLIN, Dec. 20.—The entire ernment and Socialist press to assaults the Kaiser for his let-
to Field Marshall Von Hindenburg, attempting to shift the blame for the war from his own
to the Allies in terms ranging from "ill-advised move" to an
of "political brazenness and hard-of-stupidity."
Some parliamentary circles in Germany charged that the monarchists
operately planned its publication at this juncture in order to at Chancellor Wirth's negotiations for a moratorium by arousing the ire of France and England and Germany.
The historic importance of the Kaiser's episode in the conservative press, Fre-heith says: "The former Kaiser's statements serve as additional evidence that those dealing with him were confronted either with a logical liar or an utter fool
who was absolutely unconscious
of the nature of his own words and actions."
Freheit asserts that while the Kaiser may not have sought to influence all of Europe in war in 1914, Germany was directly responsible for Austria's move against Serbia, which, the paper argues, the Kaiser and his advisers should have known was to lead to a European conflict.
Publication of the correspondence at this time, concludes Freheit, "is intended by the conservatives to punch a hole into the London negotiations and increase the culpability of the Wirth government."

that is the only purpose in giving to the world the utterances of "crowned despotism."
Freheit says the "man who decades defiled the world with silly, martial bragadocio is least fit to appear as the defender of the German cause."
The Tageblatt believes that the publication is "extremely ill advised and is bound to hurt Germany."
The Vossische Zeitung supports the Tageblatt, saying that discussion of the question of war guilt,
especially by the former Kaiser,
this time is certain merely to fuse the greater immediate issues which the Wirth government is seeking to hold before the people.

FROM LUCILE'S DIARY

On Saturday morning father asked mother to go out into the country with him and Mr. Cody, a business friend from New York.
"I don't see how I can," said mother. "I haven't done my Sunday marketing. You wish to have Mr. Cody here to dinner tomorrow?"
"You don't have to stay at home all day on that account, my dear," father protested.
"No, indeed; she doesn't have to, daddy," I interposed. "I can do the marketing and attend to everything perfectly well."
"Certainly you can, Lucille," father smiled approvingly at me. I called up as mother was gone I called up a confectioner who makes the most delicious ice cream torte and ordered one for Sunday dinner.
"What kind of salad are you planning for tomorrow?" inquired Tilly just as I was leaving the house.
"Oh, dear, I don't know, Tilly," I returned. "Make any kind you wish. I've received a telephone call from an army friend, and I must hasten downtown to meet him for luncheon."
I had a delightful time with Captain Abbey at lunch and the matinee and as his train for the west did not go till 10 o'clock he persuaded me to stay downtown for dinner, and then he sent me home in a cab.
I did feel a little anxious about granny, but Tilly always takes good care of her.
"Did you get along all right today?" I asked when I ran into her room as soon as I got home.
"It was a little lonely," grand-mother acknowledged, "but I did not mind much. Your mother telephoned something about tomorrow's dinner, Lucille, but I couldn't understand. It's awfully hard for me to get things straight over the phone."
"I was a little lonely," grand-mother acknowledged, "but I did not mind much. Your mother telephoned something about tomorrow's dinner, Lucille, but I couldn't understand. It's awfully hard for me to get things straight over the phone."
"Why, in the icebox, I suppose," I returned. "There are no chickens in the icebox or anywhere else in the house, Lucille. Did you order any?"
"Why no, but surely Tilly did. You see, mother, I was called downtown suddenly, and I had to leave things to Tilly. It was careless of her not to order chickens."
"But you didn't tell her to, did you?"
"No, but she ought to have thought of them herself. I had to hurry away to meet Captain Abbey. You know how important I feel it is to keep up my army friendships."
"There are other important things, Lucille. With three gentlemen coming to dinner, it's rather important to have something to feed them."
"Yes?"
"Three? I telephoned you that your father had invited Mr. Cody's two friends. Didn't your grand-mother tell you?"
"She didn't understand you, mother. But don't worry. I'll get some chickens."
I flew into my clothes and telephoned George Regier to come at once in his car, which he did. We speeded out to Betty's. I intended to throw myself on her mercy, as I know she always has chickens on Sunday, but she was at church. Molly was away also, and Uncle Bob was visiting with a neighbor, so little Elizabeth told me.
"Has mother any chickens, dearie?" I asked her.
"Yes, they're in the fireless cooker, Cousin Lucille."
I dashed off a hasty note telling Betty of our predicament owing to Tilly's carelessness, and saying I knew she would be glad to let us have the chickens for dad's company. Betty is extremely fond of father. I told little Elizabeth to give her the note the moment she came home, and then George and I lifted the fireless cooker right into the car and came home as fast as we could drive without arrest. Of course, I invited George to stay for dinner.
"Lucille," called mother while I was arranging some lovely flowers he bought me. "Betty has just called up, and she is perfectly furious about those chickens. I thought you got them at a delicatessen shop. She says she brought two friends home from church to dinner. I had to tell her to bring them down here. Why do you do such wild things?"
Neither mother nor dad nor I dared to eat any chicken, and then it was almost impossible to make it go round, and the vegetables and salad were short also. It certainly was most inconsiderate of Betty to force her family and guests on us.
The ice cream torte had to be served in extremely small portions, but it was most delectable. Mother was too nervous and tired to enjoy it.
"You don't mean to say you paid $5 for that?" she exclaimed when she saw the ticket.

factories, two clay tile plants and a shirt factory. It aided in obtaining a post office and improved postal service for Glendale, going into effect with the new year, and it has advocated a new railroad station with regular train stops here.
It has recommended a civic center, a public playhouse and a modern hotel. It steered off an increase in local telephone rates, when the rates went up in Los Angeles. It has been solidly back of the city council for street paving, signs and lights and has urged more city parks. It was responsible for providing an automobile camp ground for tourists.
In the field of publicity the chamber in ten months has answered 5000 letters of inquiry, sent out 4000 pieces of literature and has given information to more than 6000 strangers, a large proportion of whom have remained as residents. Most of this activity was directed by James M. Rhoades, the able secretary, while a lot of credit for bringing in new members is due E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary. V. M. Hollister is the new president, Roy L. Kent is first and Jesse E. Smith second vice president of the organization.
During the house-warming tonight 200 new members will be inducted. The Glendale Music club and Sammie's Sisters will furnish the musical program and there will be community singing led by Mayor Spencer Robinson. A good send-off for a good chamber of commerce. Eh, what?

now on. Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, has been named chairman of the drive and will be glad to receive contributions.
Then there is the maternity cottage on Utah street, Los Angeles, which is the special interest of the General Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., and always in need.
Mrs. J. H. Bray will be glad to forward any contributions of money, bedding, baby clothes or canned fruit which the generous are disposed to give.
Miss Ellen B. Churchill and Miss Minnie Moulton of 1243
South Maryland avenue, play Santa Claus all the year for the Los Angeles Children's hospital in giving service to the salvage shop,
which furnishes a steady income throughout the year. It is always in need of stock, however, and Miss Churchill would be grateful for calls from persons who have magazines to donate, or second-hand books that would replenish
the stock of a man she is trying to establish in a book-selling business, also for second-hand clothing, which could be renovated and sold, or for other articles included in salvage stocks. Miss Church-avenue, this city, and her telephone is Glendale 814-W, and she is at home evenings.

In addition to these, the Glen-cheer over the entire valley on Saturday.

GLENDALE CENTER OF STORM AREA

indicated a precipitation for the storm to 12:30 o'clock today of 7.08 inches, or for the season, 8.16 inches, as compared with 3 inches
up to this date last year.
When asked whether this storm
equalled the famous flood of 1914,
Mr. Preston replied: "Wait and see. If we have another storm on top of this after a day or two,
there will be great washing because the ground is now so saturated with water."
When asked if there was any prospect of cessation, he said the barometer stood at 29.95, which indicated continued rain. The average fair weather barometer mark is 30.30. The particular point at which it stands has less significance, however, than its downward movement. Sunday night before the wind came up, it fell rapidly.

TRAINS STOP

Train service was suspended between Los Angeles and San Diego
due to a washout in the local yards.
Immeasurable benefit, and no damage to speak of, that was the outstanding feature today of the rain storm that began early Saturday evening in Orange county.
All crops will be greatly aided.

DELUGED

Capistrano, mission town on the coast, was deluged yesterday and last night, the precipitation for the 24 hours being 2.90 inches and 5.15 inches for the storm.
Damage in the Compton-Long Beach area will reach $200,000,
according to reports here today.
Universal City has sustained $30,000 damage.
Property damage totalling $15-000 was reported to the county roads department from La Canada.

LARGEST SHARE

Southern California took the largest share of the rainfall yesterday, according to the United States weather bureau. The rains which fell in all parts of the state were described as light in the bay region
and average in the northern part of the state. In San Francisco the rainfall up to 5 a. m. was .27 of an inch, at San Jose, .06; Point Reyes,
.76, while at Eureka the figures
registered .80 and at Red Bluff
one inch.

WATERWAYS RAGE

With all waterways raging torrents, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed, Southern California's 3-
day-old storm continued unabated
today. Many Los Angeles streets were completely inundated. Pacific Electric interurban trains were all running on delayed schedules, because of soft roadbeds.
Traffic beyond Van Nuys is suspended altogether, with tracks under water.

MULES KILLED

Blinded by the torrential storm,
a herd of 35 mules was struck by a Venice Short-Line train near Culver City early today. The animals were tossed right and left as the heavy electric train plowed through the center of the herd.

RANDALL SURROUNDED

Former Congressman Charles H.
Randall and Mrs. Randall are believed to be stranded in their mountain cabin in Arroyo Seco, a mile and a half below Oak Wythe, with the Arroyo stream seven feet high flowing on either side of them. As far as is known, they are the only ones in the canyon colony that are inconvenienced by the record rain-

GEORGE LARKIN
GLENDALE TODAY

Local Man's Film Presented at Theater Here Tonight

George Larkin of Glendale, who is rapidly gaining fame in the motion picture world, will be seen on the screen at the Glendale theatre today, playing an important part in the two-reel Western, feature picture "Rowing Waters."
In addition there will be a laughable Rolin comedy, "Penny in the Slot." It is said that this is one of the best comedies released by the Rolin Film company for some time and promises a laugh a minute. A feature of ne-vending interest is the international News reels. There will be one of these instructive and interesting features to round out an already well filled bill.

HEAVIEST OF SEASON

HANFORD, Dec. 20.—Heaviest rain of this season fell last night with a total for the 12 hours of half an inch. The downpour continued today with no prospects of let up. Heavy rains in the Tulare Lake section have ended fear of a grain crop failure. The total for the storm up to 5 a. m. today was 1.25 inches.

TRAINS DELAYED

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 20.—Transcontinental trains on the Santa Fe and Salt Lake route are today running from six to eight hours late because of slides in Cajon Pass. The rainfall is heavy in the mountains and the rush of water to the flat land has swollen the Santa Ana river to high flood stage. The bridge over the Santa Ana river between Riverside and Colton is reported in danger of going out. In this city the rainfall for the storm was 3.13 inches. In the lower sections of the city cellars were flooded and water was running two feet deep in the streets. The heaviest rainfall is reported from Temescal, near Corona, where six inches had fallen since the start of the storm and it is raining hard in that section this morning.

MOUNT WILSON

Mount Wilson reports a total fall of 16.80 inches for the storm and 18.28 inches for the season. Water behind the Devil's Gate dam has reached the 72 foot mark. At 88 feet it will plunge through the concrete spillways down the Arroyo Seco toward Los Angeles.

LOCAL UNIONS IN ANNUAL MEET

Fine Social Session Held Last Night Despite Storm
Local Union No. 713, Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators of America, celebrated its anniversary on Monday night by entertaining all card men and their families and friends. The storm notwithstanding, there was a large attendance.

Mrs. O. Thompson, president of the Women's Union Label League No. 400, presented President V. E. Burris of the Painters' local with a beautiful bouquet of roses. After a few remarks by President Burris, Brother Roy L. Springer warned everyone that they were going to have a good time, and the dance was on.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, the men and women were formed into separate circles and given parts of cards, the sections of which were matched to secure partners for dinner. A special feature of the dinner was the fact that everything served was union made and bore the union label.

Mrs. Carroll L. Hare was awarded a box of candy.

PASTOR'S OWN OIL PAINTINGS ILLUSTRATE HIS SERMONS

COY WATSON, JR. BE HERE TODAY
Boy Actor With Zeda Will Appear at T. D. & L. in Person
Zeda, the giant, who portrayed the part of the Zulu, in the serial "The Miracles of the Jungle" which proved so popular at the T. D. and L. theater recently and for whom the children applauded heartily whenever he appeared on the screen, will make his personal appearance at the popular playhouse this afternoon and tonight—mostly for the benefit of the children—but of course there are many grown-up too, who were deeply interested in this actor's portrayal in the film and who will turn out to see him in person—and in his native costumes, to bargain. The actor will entertain and amuse by performance and interesting chatter, wholly in the spirit of fun making. Little Coy Watson, Jr., the boy actor, featured in the comedy production, "Nick of Time Hero," which will be shown on the screen, will also appear in person to delight the children.

Ralph Allan, manager of the theater, has made the arrangement for the appearance of these two players—not only as an interesting added feature to the day's bill but to fulfill his promise to the Intermediate Athletic Association of the Intermediate school for the school children's annual benefit, which will be staged at the T. D. and L. theater today—both afternoon and evening.

In addition to these specialties the feature attraction, "One Arabian Night" with Pola Negri will be presented for the last times.

NEGRO KLANS GET IN LIMELIGHT
TULSA, Okla., Dec. 20.—Negro "black snake klans" were active here during the night among their own race, it became known today. An order known as the "Black Vigilantes of the Night," membership requirement of which demand that all participants be married and living in harmony with their wives, took a negro out, and flogged him, according to newspaper men blindfolded and taken along. The negro whipped, known as "Super Six," was alleged to have confessed to killing his wife.

CHARLIE RAY MET JUDGE W. H. TAFT
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Charles Ray, movie star, was a visitor in the supreme court Monday and shook hands with Chief Justice Taft. Ray acted exactly as he does on the screen, sitting erect and stiff through the court session and having every appearance of being entirely the bashful youth. His stiff collar gave him a lot of discomfort. When he came up to be introduced to Chief Justice Taft, he blushed like a school girl and made one of his little bows familiar to movie fans, shooting one hand forward impulsively and holding the other behind his back.

JURY AT OUTS
NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The jury that heard H. F. Sinclair's suit against James F. Johnson for recovery of $100,000 paid for Playfellow, full brother of Man of War, disagreed and was discharged. Sinclair alleged Johnson had concealed from him that Playfellow was a "wind sucker" and "cribber."

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR
Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.
Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Vet's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS
OLIVE J. KASMIER
Olive J. Kasmier passed away December 19 at 11 p. m. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony A. Kasmier of 624 East Colorado street, at the age of 11 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, 2 o'clock, at the grave in Forest Lawn, with Pulliam & Kiefer in charge.

REIGN OF TERROR BELFAST QUELLED
BELFAST, Dec. 20.—An attempted renewal of the reign of terror in Belfast was quashed by the military today after one man had been killed. The full strength of the troops was called into play to rout the snipers who had lodged in the Seaford

LEGION FILE SUIT AGAINST PAPER FOR SLANDER

German Paper Says Legion Bought by British Gold

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Following publication of an alleged libelous article in a recent issue of the Illinois Staats Zeitung, a German-language newspaper, a suit for $100,000 damages will be filed today by attorneys representing Blackhawk Post No. 107, American Legion.

"The basis of the action," Attorney Edmunds asserted, "is a libelous article published by the Staats Zeitung in its issue of Dec. 13, 1921, alleging that the American Legion is an instrument bought with British gold to suppress truth, to gag freedom of conscience, to beat down free expression of opinion and to betray American organized labor."

"It alleges that those members of the Legion who volunteered for military service in 1917 were the refuse of the nation, and that those members of the Legion who did not volunteer were simply conscripts who obeyed the call to arms under hated compulsion and were unable to show patriotic zeal."

"It alleged that the majority of volunteers were tramps, vagabonds and bums, who placed the American uniform only a shade higher than the garb of the prison house, and that the patriots of the Legion are today a cross for America to bear. The entire editorial, which is somewhat lengthy, is written in a similar strain."

DISABLED MEN TO BE GIVEN XMAS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 20.—Disabled veterans and their dependents in every community in the United States will be cared for Christmas Day by American Legion members, according to plans announced today by national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization.

Visits to the homes of sick and wounded ex-service men and to their families will be made by the Legionnaires and special committees will take care of the men still in hospitals. Entertainments and presents will be provided for the incapacitated veterans.

In connection with the Christmas visits, Legion investigators will obtain information in regard to striking cases of neglect of the disabled and their families, following which action the members of the local posts will take up the claims of these men with the government and will assist their families in getting proper care.

Information in regard to the location of disabled men will be ascertained through Legion post meetings, the Red Cross, local medical organizations, county and city officials, and, if necessary, through house-to-house work by Legion committees.

"This is not a charity affair," said Hanford MacNider, National Commander of the Legion. "It is the Christian thought of one ex-service man for another who would expect his buddies to remember him if the positions were reversed. It does not matter whether the disabled lad is a Legion man or not; it is a Christmas greeting between ex-service men."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE REAL SPIRIT

Dear Santa Claus, don't bring a present to me Of any great value—don't think it. I'd really prefer your remembrance of me To be just some moderate trinket. Just give me a simple remembrance, and small, I'll promise to be just as happy. Just give me a small little roadster, that's all. A blue one with wire wheels, and snappy.

It is not the value of presents that counts, It's all in the spirit of giving. It is not the size of the gifts that amounts To much in the matter of living. Don't fret about me, Santa, please, and that's flat. Some little memento is plenty.— Say a fifty-foot yacht or a trinket like that That will take a gay party of twenty.

That spirit of avarice that wants a lot, How utterly do I despise it. It is not the value, it's all in the thought, And the thought is the thing makes me prize it. It matters not much how so little it be, A limousine given with pleasant Remembrance and love is as splendid to me As if it were some costly present.

A certified check for a thousand or two Would make my glad heart just as sunny If given with loving remembrance from you As something that costs lots of money. So a limousine, Santa, a roadster or yacht, Some simple and moderate trinket, For it is not the present at all, it's the thought, And I'll be just glad if you think it.

HARDING'S RIGHT HAND MAN HIS BOY

Once a Democrat He Sees Opportunity in Sticking to Harding

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—George B. Christian, Jr., in addition to being the President's private secretary, is almost his adopted son. There is something parental in the fondness the president and Mrs. Harding have for Christian. Having no children, and having seen Christian grow up from boyhood, they come by this feeling quite naturally.

Christian has always believed in sticking close to Harding. That's probably the reason he now sits just outside the president's door in the White House executive offices.

Christian worked on Harding's newspaper while going to school in Marion. When he came back home from military school at Chester, Pa., he got married, took a job in his father's stone business, and moved into the house next door to Harding's on Mount Vernon avenue in Marion. Years later Harding was elected to the United States senate. He came to Washington and soon sent for Christian to come here as his secretary. Christian was at Harding's side in Chicago when news of the nomination came. He was with the candidate election night. He stood a few feet from his chief during the inaugural ceremony last March. And then he went into the White House offices and took the desk by the door leading into the president's office. He goes with the president on all trips out of Washington.

Christian is like a grown son to Mrs. Harding. On many public occasions they walk arm in arm behind the president. Sometimes they dance together. Mrs. Harding takes many personal problems to him for advice. She calls often on Mrs. Christian, having known her as a next door neighbor for years in Marion.

Incidentally, Christian was a democrat until a few years ago, although his party affiliations were usually forgotten when Harding was involved. He was reading clerk at the democratic convention in 1912. Christian has two grown sons. The older, named Warren after the president, is a West Point graduate, and a first lieutenant in the regular army.

FORTY-FIVE DUCKS IN HUNTING TRIP

The hunting trip taken by Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird, Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Rankin of Los Angeles, H. Reeve Darling and Mrs. George Kapus, proved very successful, for they came home with 45 ducks. Dr. Young accompanied Mr. Darling in his airplane on the trip south but on account of the heavy rains they had to come back in the machines with the rest of the party. They left California about 12:30 Sunday and at that time there was no indication whatever of rain, but as soon as they reached India they were caught in a storm and did not reach Glendale until 3:30 Monday morning.

HOME BURNED
OAKLAND, Dec. 20.—The home of Cliff Durant, former automobile race driver, was destroyed by fire today. Damage is estimated at about $40,000.

FRATERNITY HOUSE
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 20.—The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house at Lafayette was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

Town Topics

Song and Yell.—The cabinet of Glendale High has approved a song and yell contest to provide material for the rosters at games and debates. It will close January 13, and all the students are being urged to put their wits to work creating clever songs and yells.

Motion Picture.—Following the Wednesday evening mid-week prayer service at the First Methodist Church at 8 p. m. a moving picture of "Alice in Wonderland" will be shown. At 8:30 Rev. G. Bromley Oxnham will deliver the seventh of his series of addresses.

Christmas Program.—The Christian Church will have its Christmas program Sunday evening. It will be a musical and white gift service. It will be held in the old church building which is now on a good foundation and safe for use.

Defer Meeting.—Because of the press of Christmas work, ladies of the Christian church will not meet Thursday for their customary all-day meeting, and no meeting will be held until after the first of January.

Miss Elliott Ill.—Miss Anna B. Elliott, a member of the Glendale Presbyterian church, and a trained nurse by profession, is ill at the county hospital, and any little Christmas attentions which her friends can show her will be appreciated.

Program Today.—Today the primary grades at Cerritos Avenue School are having simple Christmas programs, and the upper grades are combining in a more elaborate program which will take place in the afternoon.

Tree Friday.—The Congregational church of this city will have its Christmas entertainment Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, will give a special musical program, assisted by Mrs. Virginia Freeman, soprano, W. R. McClintock, bass, and Miss Gertrude Champlain, pianist.

Apron Sale.—The Ladies Aid Society of the Tropic Presbyterian Church held a food and apron sale on Friday afternoon at the church, clearing about $15 in all.

Friday Program.—The Sunday School of Tropic Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Christmas program at the church, Friday evening, December 23, at 7:30. There will be an interesting program, with a Christmas tree and candy for all the children. Miss Carol Duncan is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. S. A. Brown is in charge of the program.

For City Mission.—The Women's Society of the First Baptist Church is contributing largely to the city missions in Los Angeles for their Christmas work.

Teachers Ill.—Vice-Principal Ferguson and Mrs. Shearin of the high school teaching staff were kept at home Monday by illness, and a large number of students failed to make their appearance on account of colds and bad weather. Miss Switzer and Miss Spier, both of whom have been ill, are recovering and expect to return to school after the holidays.

Play for Christmas.—The Central Avenue Methodist church will hold a Christmas entertainment on Saturday night at the church. A little play will be presented entitled, "Carrying Christ to Every Child," as well as other numbers of music, etc. Of course, there will be a Christmas tree with a treat for all. Mrs. L. Foster is in charge of the program.

NOTHING IS FINAL WITH FRIENDS SAYS BRYAN

Points to Great Things Done Because of Open Friendship

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN (Copyright, 1921, by United Press)

Many lessons are to be drawn from the conference—lessons that will be valuable in future diplomacy.

The old method consisted of demands backed by threats of force which were only thinly veiled. A threat makes acceptance of a proposition difficult because acceptance under threat is suggestive of cowardice. Wars often result when a different policy would have secured a peaceful settlement. The arms conference has from the beginning been characterized by a new spirit which has created a new kind of diplomacy. "Nothing is final between friends," seems to be the theory upon which the negotiations proceed. There is the utmost candor and differences of opinion—even radical differences—do not disturb the composure of the delegates.

Two recent illustrations are in point: When the conference assembled the tension between China and Japan was very noticeable. The Chinese delegates drew up a list of demands which embodied the changes which they felt were necessary. While some of the demands dealt very pointedly with Japan's policy, Japan met the situation with composure and every fair minded person must concede that the Japanese delegation has shown an admirable spirit in attempting to find a satisfactory solution of the eastern question.

Remarkable progress has been made. China is on the road to full and complete political and economical independence. The Shantung question, which was a menace at Paris, is nearly settled—what a transformation in the attitude of the powers in three years.

And so it will be with the astonishing propositions submitted by France calling for three hundred and fifty thousand tons of capital ships to be built in ten years.

Of course, Great Britain would never consent to any such building program for France while the British Isles were enjoying a naval holiday. But how easy it is to reject three hundred and fifty thousand tons and offer a hundred and seventy-five thousand tons compromise.

"Nothing is final between friends," let the negotiations proceed and some reasonable proposition will be the result.

POSTPONED XMAS TREE SERVICE

The municipal Christmas tree, which was to have been lighted to night in the south part of Glendale, has been postponed until the weather is more favorable. It is probable that it will be seen Saturday night, when it will conflict less with church Christmas celebrations than if illuminated earlier. It is a matter of great public interest in that part of the city in which the Thursday Afternoon Club, the South Glendale Improvement Association, the Ceritos and other schools, and various organizations, have been co-operating.

THREE HELD
WILLOWS, Dec. 20.—Floyd Davis, George Clark and Lawrence Hicks, are under arrest here in connection with the successful attempt of spurious federal internal revenue agents to extort $1850 and four gold watches from "China Jim," a Chinese street vendor, who accused of being an illicit liquor and drug peddler.

HOLD BARBER
GRASS VALLEY, Dec. 20.—An ex-convict named Benoit and known also as "Frenchy" was detained by the authorities today on suspicion that he has knowledge of the murder of Peter Caddan, a local mail carrier, whose mutilated body was found in the basement of an unoccupied house yesterday. Benoit is a barber.

FIND TOOLS
DETROIT, Dec. 20.—A soap box full of knives, files, hammers, pointed chisels and other weapons fashioned by inmates has been found in Marquette prison.

ter, O. E. S., will hold the regular monthly meeting and luncheon at the Masonic Temple Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock.

School Program.—The Colorado school is enjoying a program this afternoon, given by the different grades. Each room is to be given a Christmas treat by its room mothers and the program will be given by the children and is to begin at 1:30 o'clock.

No Meeting.—Monday was the evening set for the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, Glendale Post of the American Legion, at which nominations for officers for the coming year were to have been made. Only two members appeared and the meeting was postponed to a date to be announced later in the week.

Postpone Meet.—On account of the storm, the regular meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will not be held today. The next regular meeting will be December 27. The play by the parliamentary law section, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt on, of which Miss Eva Daniels is the author, will have to be postponed until April, as all other regular meetings have been planned for.

Purely Personal

Dr. and Mrs. Jeter of Eagle Rock, formerly of Glendale, have both been seriously ill for the past week but now are on the road to recovery.

Col. H. B. Light of 1900 Gardena avenue is at the Glendale Research hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Caroline Weisenheimer has just returned from a six months' trip to Indianapolis and other eastern points and will make her home with her son, Captain E. L. Weisenheimer of 204 East Acacia avenue.

Miron Griswold of 612 South Brand boulevard, who is a traveling salesman, came home one day last week from his trip, seriously ill with pneumonia, but is slowly recovering.

Mrs. MacGregor and her daughter, Miss Jennie MacGregor, a teacher in the local high school, will leave next Friday for Warren, Arizona, where they will spend the holidays with Mrs. MacGregor's son.

Rev. C. A. Cole of Central Christian church will go to Beaumont one night this week to help start a Christian church there. He received an S. O. S. call from Rev. J. W. Utter of Corona, who is conducting revival meetings at Beaumont.

A. H. Montgomery of 415 South Central avenue has returned from a trip to Denver, Salt Lake City, Seattle, and San Francisco and will be in Glendale until after the holidays.

Miss Flora E. From of 1249 East Wilson avenue, has accepted a position with the state government as special agent at the Bureau of Labor statistics. The labor bureau is doing some wonderful work such as enforcing the labor laws, child labor laws and laws regarding sanitation and ventilation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones of 420 Ivy street are moving to 1014 East Elk avenue.

Mrs. Hiram Swartz of Akron, Ohio, arrived in Glendale last week to spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. George E. Tennant, of 317 East Elk avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pabor of Los Angeles were the guests Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Peart, 111 East Elk avenue.

Dr. Ida Jayne Weaver of Seattle, Washington, is the guest today of Dr. Caroline Paine Jackman, 515 North Kenwood street. Dr. Weaver and Dr. Jackman were classmates at the Osteopathic college in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shiffer, of 520 North Isabel street, motored to Long Beach Sunday, where they spent the day with friends.

Z. Seidenlam, of the Circle Realty Company, went to Los Angeles Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Marshall of 232 Lindon Way, Eagle Rock, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born this morning at the Glendale Research hospital.

George Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, of 1226 South Maryland avenue, is seriously ill with pneumonia at the Glendale Research hospital.

Miss Helen Neal of Santa Ana, who has been the house guest of Miss Ramona Ryan of 332 West Acacia avenue, spent Monday night at the home of Miss Dorothy Danner, 1631 Gardena avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Cram of 357 West California avenue expect to move in a day or two. They will spend Christmas in Los Angeles and later be at 215 South Kenwood street, having sold their property at 357 West California.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT HOLY FAMILY

A fine program of Christmas music has been provided for the Sunday morning service at the Holy Family Catholic Church. The soloists will include Mayor Spencer Robinson, Mrs. Robinson, Miss Helen Peck, a noted contralto from Chicago, who is now living in Glendale, Miss Viola Yorba, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard and others.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."
